As political capital of Andalucía, Sevilla houses the government and parliament of this autonomous region. The legend says Sevilla was founded by Hercules. It was called Hispalis by the romans and Isbiliya by the moors. It was after the discovery of America that Sevilla reached its highest point in history; due to the fact that the Guadalquivir river that crosses the city can be navigated from Sevilla to Sanlucar de Barrameda, on the Atlantic Coast. Overnight at hotel in Sevilla.

Celts, Phoenicians, Romans and Arabs all inhabited these lands, which were reconquered by the Catholic Monarchs. The historic quarter, reminiscent of the Arab age and with a medieval layout is scattered to the south of the Guadalevín, while more modern Ronda, the part which sprang up after the 16th century, unfolds to the north of the course of this river. Several bridges unite the two halves of one of the most interesting towns on the route of the Whitewashed Villages, in the heart of the Ronda hills, only a few kilometres from the Costa del Sol.

Day 7: Marbella-Granada

Breakfast at the hotel and check out. Private transfer to Malaga train station to take the train to Granada. Private transfer from Granada train station to the hotel in Granada. Half day Alhambra tour on regular basis. Alhambra is a palace and fortress complex located in Granada, Andalusia. It was originally constructed as a small fortress in 889 and then largely ignored until its ruins were renovated and rebuilt in the mid-13th century by the Moorish Emir Mohammed I ibn Nasr of the Emirate of Granada, who built the current palace and walls. It was converted into a royal palace in 1333 by Yusuf I, Sultan of Granada.

Alhambra's Islamic palaces, as we know them today, were built for the last Muslim emirs in Spain and the court of the Nasrid dynasty. After the conquest of Granada by the Reyes Católicos (Catholic Monarchs) in 1492, some portions were used by Christian rulers. The palace of Charles V, holy Roman emperor in 1527, was inserted in the Alhambra within the Nasrid fortifications. After falling into disrepair for centuries and the buildings being occupied by squatters, the Alhambra was rediscovered in the 19th century by European scholars and travellers, with restorations commencing. It is now one of Spain's major tourist attractions, exhibiting the country's most significant and well known Islamic architecture, together with 16th-century and later Christian building and garden interventions. Alhambra is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and the inspiration for many songs and stories. Overnight at hotel in Granada.
